NOT MANAGER BLOOM'S WIFE. Magistrate Flammer's Decision Reversed by Special Sessions.

The Justices of the Court of Special Sessions everruled yesterday the decision of Magistrate Fiammer, who, in the Harlem Police Court, ordered, on Oct. 8, that Edward L. Bloom, Herrmann's manager, furnish a bond to pay a woman claiming to be his wife $15 a week for the support of herself and their eight-year-old child. The woman, whose name is Effic Hamilton, said that two weeks after she was introduced to Bloom, by her sister, in front of the Morton House, in December, 1883, they assumed the relationship of husband and wife. After that Bloom took her to his mother's home on Walnut hill, in Cincinnati, where she was introduced as his wife, and remained for four or five years. During one of her visits to this city their child

During one of her visits to this city their cand was born.

Bloom, through his attorney, admitted the paternity of the child and the fact that he had taken the woman to his mother's house. It was to spare the feelings of his mother that he introduced the woman as his wife.

Upon this testimony Magistrate Flammer compelled Bloom to furnish a bond to pay the woman $15 a week. The Judges in Special Sessions decided she had been unable to prove a marriage to the defectant, and ordered the reversal of Magistrate Flammer's ruling and the discharge of Bloom. Bloom has a wife in Bound Brook, N. J., where he lives.

The liquidation also appears o have gone far enough to attract buying of the character usually described as good. Owing o these circumstances the market took without hesitation early in the day about 15,000 shares of various stocks sold by foreign arbitrage louses. A slightly easier foreign exchange mar Just before the close of business, prices yielded rapidly on a revival of reports of prospective nternational complications abroad. Some of the stocks bought by professional traders for s turn on the long side were thrown upon the market, and as the short interest had been largely reduced, very little de-mand was encountered. The final movement demonstrated afresh the parrowness of the market and the smallness of the legitimate demand for stocks. A possibility of improvement in the general situation is the week Southern banks were arranging to draw money from this centre to carry cotton that factors were relustant to sell, on account of the decline in price. It was learned to-day that many of the accommodations arranged for were cancelled owing to freer shipments, particularly at New Orleans. Liberal exports of cotton would unquestionably remove what ap-pears to be the most sorious obstacle to an improvement in prices on the Stock Exchange.

The adoption of the proposed new agreement between the Trunk Line and Central Traffic Association railroads, which is now considered certain, is regarded by many influential bankers as the most important development affecting the value of securities since the Government bond negotiations last spring. Its effect upon the market, however, is likely to be restricted unless a pronounced outward movement in cot-ton brings the rates for exchange down toward figures that usually prevail at this season. Transactions on the Stock Exchange to-day were much smaller than yester-day, but the distribution of business was fair. Owing to the final dip in prices, which wiped out a large part of the early improvement, only a few noteworthy net fluctuations were re-corded; indeed, the only stocks that closed a point or more higher than yesterday were General Electric, Colorado Fuel, Consolidated Gas, and a few other shares in which the trad-ing was almost nominal. Tennessee Coal and Iron was exceptionally strong, and so was Southern Railway preferred and Missouri Pacific. On the other hand, Louisville and Nashville was conspicuously weak, closing 11/4 W cent. lower than
